

The Times-Dispatch
DAILY—WEEKLY—SUNDAY

By Mail	By Mail	By Mail	By Mail
One Year	Three Months	One Month	One Week
$10.00	$3.00	$1.00	10 cents
Daily without Sunday	4.00	2.00	1.00
Sunday edition only	2.00	1.00	.50
Weekly (Wednesday)	1.00	.50	.25

By Times-Dispatch Carrier Delivery Service in Richmond (and suburbs) Manchester and Petersburg—
One Week
Daily with Sunday.....14 cents
Daily without Sunday.....10 cents
Sunday only.....5 cents

Entered January 27, 1903, at Richmond, Va., as second-class matter under act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16, 1909.

WHEN DEMOCRATS VOTED AGAINST REDUCING TAXATION.

To deal decisively with questions involving many votes in Congress requires more browsing in the archives than can easily be done at short notice. This must be our excuse for inviting attention once more to the tariff attitude of the Democratic representatives. Quite apart from any newspaper's reputation for accuracy and fairness, however, the points involved here are of real interest and well worth some extended discussion. To clear the ground somewhat of the garbled, detached and cleverly re-assembled quotations must go without rebuke. "Disputes" about language becloud the one large point at issue, which is here very simple, and which it is highly important to keep clearly in mind. It is merely this: Have a large number of Democrats in Congress, contrary to the proper expectations of the voters who sent them there, resisted opportunities to reduce taxation and voted for high protective duties? The Times-Dispatch has asserted that they have. It will now endeavor to reinforce its statements in such a way as to give pause to even the most reckless and impudent contradiction.

The extra session was born of a public protest against tariff oppression so strong, so universal and so insignificant that the party in power dared not ignore it. The bill was framed by the "conservative" Republicans of the Ways and Means Committee. It was fathered by one of the most notorious high protectionists in the country, a leader in that little band of greedy legislators whose cruel abuse of the taxing power has disgusted and alienated so many thousands of good Republicans. Unless we are asked to believe that ink is white and that leopards change their spots overnight, this bill conceded no more reductions than party policy and party safety made necessary. One of the particular reductions which it permitted was the halving of the Dingley duty on lumber, a duty so obnoxious that the Democratic party, in violation of ordinary custom, specially singled it out and won many votes on the promise to put lumber on the free list.

The Payne bill taxed lumber at $1 a thousand, and the matter was therefore open for discussion. There is not a newspaper in Virginia which will assert that there was the remotest chance of re-enacting the outrageous Dingley rate on lumber. It is, therefore, impossible to admire the self-restraint of any Democrat in not voting for the $2 tax, because no member had the audacity to introduce an amendment to that effect. The one chance offered Democrats to show their sympathy with the overburdened tax-payers, as against "the interests," was in reducing the tax proposed by Sen. E. Payne. The chance came in an amendment reducing the tax from $1 to nothing at all, which a solid Democratic vote could have carried. But forty Democrats voted against this reduction, and so wrote the Payne rate into the bill.

Yet the Lynchburg News of yesterday, with the amplest obligations to be accurate in its statements, assures its readers that "for the 171 Democrats in the House but six failed to vote at every opportunity for a substantial reduction of taxation." The News's idea of an opportunity for a substantial reduction of taxation would be decidedly worth listening to.

The Dingley rate on barley was 30 cents a bushel; on barley malt, 45 cents a bushel. The rate was, as it was meant to be, absolutely prohibitive. It yielded last year less than $5,000 in revenue. Importations had dropped under it from 2,962,152 bushels in 1895, to 1,915 bushels in 1908. Mr. Payne, leader of the clique, which regards the consumer as a myth, cut the barley rate to 15 cents. He admitted on the floor that a 15-cent rate would be practically prohibitive. No one blames Democrats in Congress for not voting for a lower rate than that, since no opportunity offered itself. But a much more decisive opportunity offered when Mr. Cushman, of Washington, announcing himself a "high protectionist," rose to propose a 24-cent tax on barley and a 40-cent tax on barley malt—increases of more than 50 per cent. over the rates described by Mr. Payne as practically prohibitive. The choice offered the Democrats here was not simply whether they should vote for or against reduced taxation, but whether they should vote for or against incessantly increased taxation. Twelve of them voted for the inexorable increase. Moreover the vote was so close—194 to 188—that their votes were decisive and fastened this doubly high protective tax upon the country.

Yet the Lynchburg News, as a sample "fact" to prove that the Times-Dispatch is "disseminating untrue charges" against Democrats in Congress, calmly assures its readers that "not the 171 Democrats in the House but six failed to vote at every opportunity for a substantial reduction in taxation."

But the crowning high protection performance of Democrats in Congress came on the hides schedule. The Dingley bill taxed hides at 15 per cent. It admitted "skins," which are the hides of small animals, less than 25 pounds weight, free of duty. The Payne bill, for reasons which seemed decisive even to high protectionists, put hides with skins on the free list. An Alabama Democrat offered an amendment raising the tax on hides from nothing at all to 10 per cent. Note that this was the only choice offered to Democrats: no tax at all or a tax. Ninety of them voted for a tax. But this voted on the same Alabama Democrat, Mr. Underwood, made a bold effort to have classified as a hide any skin "weighing more than one pound," though Treasury decisions, on which the tariff bill was based, had clearly established the fact that a hide was a skin weighing 25 pounds or over. That is to say, this excellent Democrat proposed to take skins of less than 25 pounds off the Dingley (and Payne) free list and lump them with hides under a 10 per cent. duty. It is doubtful if a more ingenious effort to outpace high protection itself was ever hatched in Pittsburg or Fall River. Yet no less than 88 Democratic Congressmen fell in behind Mr. Underwood and voted to apply this protective duty where Dingley, and Payne after him, had adjudged none "necessary."

We cannot share our Lynchburg contemporary's love of melodramatic language and scarcely less melodramatic type. But we make bold to say that it will not repeat to-morrow or the next day or at any future time its deliberate statement of yesterday that "of the 171 Democrats in the House but six failed to vote at every opportunity for a substantial reduction in taxation."

The Senate must be more briefly dealt with. The Democratic Senators had the opportunity to reduce taxes on lumber from half the Dingley rate—the highest rate that high protection ventured to ask for—to nothing at all. Seventeen of them voted against so reducing it. They had the chance to vote to leave iron ore on the free list where the protectionist Republicans in the House had felt compelled to place it. Seventeen of them voted to raise a tax as high as a duty as Aldrich himself was bold enough to ask for. The revenue derivable from ore is virtually nothing; any duty upon it at all is a high protective duty. Both these Aldrich duties, on lumber and ore, appeared too objectionable for a number of Aldrich's own party to swallow. Fifteen of them, in the first instance, and sixteen in the second, broke away and voted against Aldrich, and the seven Democratic Senators. These two episodes help to explain why the Times-Dispatch has referred to Democrats lining up with the Aldrich clique and assisting him, where his own party deserts him in preparing a bill to his own liking.

But unhappily, these two do not stand alone. A casual examination of the Congressional Record shows Senator McNary, of Louisiana, voting eleven times with the Aldrich Republicans on the side of higher duties. Senator Foster, of the same State, voted eight times with Aldrich and against his own party. Senator Chamberlain voted against reducing the Aldrich (and Dingley) rate of 60 per cent. on crockery. Senators Daniels and Martin voted, alone of their party, against reducing the duty on quibachro. Senator Hughes voted twice against reducing the Aldrich (and Dingley) lead rate of 21-3 cents a pound. Senators Foster and Fletcher voted to raise the Dingley duty on lemons from 80 cents a box to $1.20 a box.

Yet the Lynchburg News has the temerity to tell its readers that "of the thirty-two Democratic Senators, but one failed to vote at every opportunity for a decided reduction in taxation." To which one of the fifty-nine instances cited above does our contemporary refer?

This record makes no pretense at being complete. Time, space and the failure of the House to take a division on many votes—as on the tobacco schedule, for example—alike forbid any extension of it. But it is quite sufficient as it stands. It shows that large numbers of Democrats, offered the choice between the measure of reduction wrung by public indignation out of high protectionists like Payne and a more wholesome and liberal reduction—no other choice being offered them—voted against such reduction; offered the chance to reduce the rate on trust-controlled products, like ore and hides, if not lumber, to nothing at all, in accordance with platform pledges, voted against such reduction; or, offered the chance to leave certain articles at the rate which Dingley had thought sufficient, voted to raise the Dingley rate. Therefore, the Times-Dispatch has said, and now repeats as proven, that many Democrats have voted against reducing taxes, or for higher taxes, and for protection in the interests of a few of their constituents. The Lynchburg News has felt free to say, and yesterday to reiterate, that such statements are without "the semblance of truth." The above simple recital of facts leaves our contemporary in a position which, it seems to us, would prove decidedly embarrassing to most news papers. We now leave it to extricate itself in such ways as its sense of propriety suggests.

This newspaper moves in no black and sinister world, where all who disagree with its opinions, or even all who make statements which it regards as partly contradicted by the facts, are seen as villains and liars. We give the Lynchburg paper credit for believing all that it says. Its repeated statements that no Democrat, with limited exceptions, has missed any opportunity to vote for substantial reductions in taxation, are based, it now seems, on the sorry plea that the measure of reduction wrung from Payne and Aldrich by incensed public opinion fulfilled the Democratic opportunity and honorably discharged Democratic obligations to the unprotected many. For those who so appraise the Democratic mission, this feeble pretext doubtless seems plausible. For our own part, we reject and deride it. How its adherents will contrive to reconcile even such a humble ideal with the votes of the eighty-eight Democrats on the hides schedule we shall not undertake to say. Indeed, the chief trouble with all these blanket apologies is that they prove far too much. One would fairly infer from the Lynchburg paper's riddling euphemisms that the Democratic tariff story was flawless and impeccable; that no Democrat in history had ever rolled a log; that none had diverged from party platform or principle to fatten up an industry back home; that none had ever so performed at tariff legislation; that the greatest Democrat of a generation had stamped them as guilty of perjury and dishonor and indignantly declined to put his name to their work.

Borrowed Jingles.

AN ECSTASY OF JUNE.
O, the stealer now is king on the hill,
And the speckled trout is flitting in the mill.
And the mole the sod is boring,
While the baseball player, scoring,
Phil's welkin with a sweetly joyous thrill.

Now the motor car goes buzzing up the pike,
And the Oyster and the Coal Man go on strike.
While the merry Taxicabby
Makes your pocketbook look flabby
As the figures on the dial 'gin to hike.

There's a little touch of Summer in the air,
And a bloom comes on the apple and the pear.
And the street is filled with peaches,
Thinking how the Summer beaches
Soon will blossom with their beauty everywhere.

Now the strawberry is headed for the jam,
And in the blinding and in cooing
There is lots and lots a-doing,
And the mint is on the julep and the lamb.

Now the travelers are speeding o'er the sea,
And the polylog is dreaming on the sea;
At the early morn is tugging
In an effort for to have him stay to tea.

Now the leeman well contented chews his cud,
And the plumber drops his plumbing with a dud,
And our little Baby-Bunting
With her mother goes a-hunting
For the gay and festive Summer evening dud.

There's a sweet suggestive smile upon the moon,
As we listen to the honking of the loon,
And the broad blue Heaven covers
Endless miles of water and of shore,
With the fullness of the beauty of June!

—New York Times.

NEW BIDS.

No injustice, we think, can be done to anybody by making a fresh start in the matter of the electric plant award, rejecting all bids and calling for new ones. If the arguments which led to the original award at the higher price are sound and convincing—and The Times-Dispatch does not pretend to say that they are not—they will still stand. They will be exactly as telling in July or August as in June. The ordinary precautions of business require, simply, a clear and definite understanding of what they are. Nor, after so many delays, can a few weeks' postponement in the final letting of the contract be regarded of any especial moment.

There are hardly a score of people in Richmond who care a rap whether this contract goes to one company or another. The tax-payers' sole interest in the matter is to see that the city gets as good a bargain as it safely and properly can. There must be definite reasons for purchasing anything at a price 10 per cent. higher than what the market offers, and it is natural and right that those who have to pay the bills should wish to understand those reasons as nearly as possible. This understanding, we think it fair to say, has so far been lacking.

From a plain business standpoint, the city has everything to gain and nothing to lose by moving deliberately and understanding exactly what it is doing. Incidentally, the call for new bids gives an excellent opportunity to profit by past experience. The right to split the contract and buy in parcels, if desired, should certainly be reserved. This was planned, we believe, in the original call for bids, but was blocked by the failure of the successful bidders to price their offerings by items. The opportunity to assemble the parts of the plant from various makers, according to price and quality, is certainly an important business consideration, and the city should by all means have it.

What if the rifles and other shooting apparatus on the Nanticoke were billed as pianos? Certainly we have all known pianos which were more murderous than firearms.

The degree to which our esteemed contemporary, the Skivonia, is in bad may be gleaned from the fact that even the darning sports at Lloyds' declined to take a chance at her.

The White House continues so quiet that you could distinctly hear a veto drop.

Mrs. Howard Gould testifies that she could afford to properly care for less than $10,000 a year. Incidentally there are a good many women who couldn't dress properly on ten times that amount.

The House was in session for only ten minutes on Monday, barely long enough for gnatcatch.

An increase of $9,467,000 in exports was reported for May, that being the month when the surpassing shops of Richmond and other cities troussous to the Junebirds of Paris.

The Cleveland Leader proposes to give Emma Goldman to the English suffragettes. How much boot is the Leader offering?

Carnegie's visit to Austria will doubtless result in some charming gift on the "art-and-art" basis.

The proposed income tax is to operate only on those who have $5,000 a year, and up. Here is a tax which we should deem it a real pleasure to pay.

The Nanticoke, the headline writers announce, is bottled up. And it seems to have been having a perfectly corking time.

David Graham Phillips says that he writes 5,000 words a day. The man must be the readiest writer since Roosevelt.

TART AND GRAY.
Bobbitt Confederate Jacket and Texas Wool Breeds Are Suggested.
In the opinion of the Charlotte Chronicle, General Clement A. Evans, the commander of the United Confederate Veterans, has suggested that a coat of Confederate gray be presented to Mr. Taft as a stand-off to the Confederate badge that was pinned on Mr. McKinley's coat when he visited Georgia. "He would look nice going around wearing a bobbitt gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the breeches after a little while. Besides, there is no more attractive combination than a gray coat and black trousers, or gray trousers and a black coat. The combination looks well both ways. Moreover, our Charlotte contemporary seems to have forgotten that Mr. Taft wore a pair of trousers made of Texas wool, and any man who can do that would be able to stand in the bree